An early-bird breakfast will be provided, as well as lunch, where the prizes for superior performance will be awarded. The cost is $80 per person. Rental clubs are available for $30. Registration is limited to the first 52 golfers. You may register for golf either using the form in this packet or when you register for the conference online.

Remembering the Non-Golfers

Non-golfers who arrive by Sunday morning may want to delve into some of the extraordinary and unique natural features of Arkansas. Plans are not yet complete but anyone interested in hiking, fishing, a hot springs spa experience or similar relaxing and/or invigorating experience should send an e-mail to Verenda.Smith@taxadmin.org.

Opening Reception

On Sunday evening, conference attendees and their guests will be treated to an opening reception at the William Jefferson Clinton Presidential Center. From 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., conference attendees may tour the library facility. You won't be able to see everything this great library has to offer during the reception so be sure to set aside time during your stay in Little Rock for a complete tour of the library with your family and conference colleagues.

Guest Tours

On Monday, spouses and guests of conference attendees have the opportunity to visit beautiful Garvan Woodland Gardens and tour Hot Springs, Arkansas, including Hot Springs National Park. Located on the shores of Lake Hamilton, this 210-acre botanical garden contains the Oriental-influenced "Garden of the Pine Wind" with stream courses, waterfalls, stone bridges, and native and Asian plantings. Other features are "Daffodil Hill," a welcome center, gift shop, canopy bridge, and bird sanctuary. Breakfast, transportation, and admission to Garvan Woodland Gardens are included in the guest fee.

On Tuesday, spouses and guests will have the opportunity to select the museums, historic sites, and shops that they wish to visit from the list of such features that are within a short walking distance or trolley ride from the Little Rock Peabody Hotel. Spouses and guests are encouraged to attend the meeting's opening reception on Sunday evening at the Clinton Presidential Center and the Tuesday evening banquet, both of which events are included in the guest fee.

Closing Banquet

The Closing Banquet will be held Tuesday evening. Musical entertainment will be provided by Trout Fishing In America. (If you're old enough to remember the original hip book from the '60s, raise your hand!) Together, Keith Grimwood on bass and Ezra Idlet on guitar are Trout Fishing In America. The two-time Grammy nominated duo will display their superb musical abilities in a high energy, fun filled concert. Their music is a mix of folk/pop influenced by reggae, blues, jazz, and classical music. Trout Fishing In America mixes music and humor to make fun of some of our most annoying habits, touch our hearts with tender images of family life and entertain with a unique style that connects with audiences everywhere.
